ART FOR THOUGHT

Artemest

words by: Alexa Jennelle

Artemest brings luxury, Italian items to your fingertips. You'll find an exclusive display of luxury furniture, home décor, jewelry, and gift items that cannot be found anywhere else in the world. All products are Italian made using old world techniques, yet you'll find the aesthetic to be young and contemporary, designed in a way that is innovative and even slightly provocative.

Founded by New York City jewelry designer, Ippolita Rostagno, Artemest is a curation of Italy's most talented artisans specializing in a dazzling array of craftsmanship. The e-commerce site was designed to give artists a larger platform to display their work as well as the resources to sell and ship their products to buyers around the world, taking centuries old practices into the global economy.

Ippolita is an artist in her own right. She studied sculpture in Italy before making the transition into jewelry design—a remnant of her past that is still very apparent in her designs today. Ippolita remains very committed to the tradition of art and craftsmanship, especially the art and practices of her home country of Italy. This love of art, her homeland, and the rich traditions that permeate Italian culture is what led to the conception of Artemest.

Maissa

Maissa was founded by Giulia Ber Tacchini, a young and cutting-edge accessory designer. She has blazed a new trail in design, being the first to use 3D technology in the creation of her clutches and mini bags. Maissa encapsulates luxury and has partnered with haute couture, fashion brands such as Dior, Prada, and Chloe.
